

It's All Bits and Bytes—So Why Not Treat It That Way?

CONVERGED NETWORKS & IP TELEPHONY

Voice communications in today's world takes on many forms. Some of these forms involve a physical phone, but all of them require connectivity to another device in order for communication to actually occur. Your organization depends on that network and telephony infrastructure every moment of every day. The better the communication, the more successful your business is. Are you still paying to support separate voice and data systems? Does the use of video communications seem like an impossible dream? Are your telephony systems allowing you to do business the 21st-century way?

Enter Info Solutions LLC. Info Solutions industry-certified convergence consultants have expertise across strategic vendors and technologies that allow our clients to enjoy the benefits of best-of-breed converged network and IP telephony systems.

These benefits include lower TCO for a single homogenous environment, truly mobile communications regardless of medium or device, and improved productivity through tight integration with back-end systems and instant information relay. Convergence technologies give your voice, video, and data traffic the unique infrastructure support each requires to be fully effective, which allows your employees to reach their maximum potential, regardless of physical location, role, or device.
